AN IMPERIAL VISIT .- The Emperor of Austria is now on a visit to his Italian possessions. The object of his visit, as proclaimed by the Vienna press, is to conciliate his Italian subjects by mitigating and reforming the Austrian rule in Italy and Italian history. About this, however, there are very grave doubts outside of the Austrian Court and its influence, although the recent withdrawal of the Austrian army of occupation from a portion of them. These capes are only a sample of his exten-the Lawrence with the imperial decree sive assortment. The following note accompanied restoring to the Lombardo-Venetians the "Central Congregations" granted to them in 1815 by the Emperor Francis, partial and shadowy as these favors are, give some color to the confident and repeated assurances of the Austrian press. It is not impossible, indeed, though not extremely probable, that the young Emperor Francis Joseph, who is said to be really ingenuous and liberal in his disposition, has repented of the rigor of his Italian rule, and, which we own is still less probable, that his advisers have recognized the importance not to Austria alone but to Europe of conciliating instead of yet further exasperating the people of Northern Italy, from whose bosom the spark of revolution, once struck might swiftly wrap the continent in a blaze. This may well be, but, so blind and hardened are ministers of State, and so omnipotent are they with sovereigns, it probably is not, at least to the degree implied by the protestations of the Austrian press.

It is plain enough that the object of this imperial visit is to pacify the Italians in some way, but it is not so plain that substantial concessions, followed up by a just and benignant rule, is to be actually the chosen way. Princes and their counsellors are not commonly so clear-sighted as this. They are seldom moved by the hint of dark mutterings; they require the kick of open rebellion, which is very certain to follow the neglect of its gentler precur sor. The Princes of the House of Hapsburg are particularly slow to wisdom; and it is only natural that a large majority of the rest of mankind should be equally slow to faith in their exercise of it.

CEUELTY TO ANIMALS,-The practice of DRIV-ING HORSES WITH BLANKETS, so universal in ou city, is both absurd and cruel, and should be promptly discarded. The practice is sanctioned by a sort of vague idea that it prevents horses from taking cold; but this idea is a terrible fallacy, as any man of sense will perceive on a moment's reflection. Cold works its disastrous effects upon the horse, if at all, after his motion ceases, and not while he is aglow with exercise; and it works these effects through the too sudden reaction of the atmosphere upon the reeking temperature of the animal. This reaction it is the true purpose of the blanket to check, by checking the evaporation after his exertion pauses; but if he is driven with the blanket perpetually clamped about him, the blanket, heated to the temperature of his body and steaming with tion, obviously loses its proper quality and virtually a second hide, leaving him really ch exposed when he stops as if he had no cet on him, to say nothing of the burden and annoyance of it in the meantime. It is consideramore than tantamount to using no blanket at all. The practice is, in fact, the most direct and oppressive way of insuring the very result it is designed to prevent. It quite passes comprehension, how, in a community so enlightened and humane as our own, a practice so stupid and inhuman could have taken root and flourished as it has. Let it be

It is stated that the House Committee on Naval Affairs have agreed to report, as it came from the Senate, the bill to amend an act entitled "An Act to promote the efficiency of the Navy." It establishes a Court of Inquiry to investigate the phys ical, mental, professional, and moral fitness of any officer of the navy who was dropped, furloughed, or retired, by the operation of the act of the 28th of February, 1855. This Court is to be governed by the laws and regulations which now govern Courts of Inquiry.

A letter from Monterey, Mexico, written under date of the 20th ult., says:

A day or two after Rosas' arrival at Saltillo, that city was the scene of a most terrible disaster. The powder and other munitions of war that had been deposited in the City Hall, by some means unknown caught fire, and, with an avail explosion blew up the building, burying in its ruins over fifty persons. Among the victims were several highly respectable persons belonging to Saltillo.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The Shotwell gave up her trip. The river has een falling very fast, and there is not now enough water to enable the large boats to go out fully loaded.

The St. Louis News, of Thursday evening, says: The St. Louis News, of Thursday evening, says:
The floating ice in the river opposite the city is becoming heavier every hour, and this morning its surface was covered with one solid, unbroken sheet of ice, that moved slowly down stream. The water continues to fall slowly, with less than six feet in the channel to Cairo. Although the ice is the continue of the con

We learn that the steamer Vienna, which was laid up in the Illinois river at Six Mile Island, was broken loose from her fastenings by a cake of floating ice, and was forced on a bar, where she now lies in a dangerous condition.

The Board of Managers of the Relief and Employment Association, in behalf of the destitute and suffering, earnestis solicit your cooperation. The winter is upon us, work is scarce, and fuel is very dear. The Association has defiberated long upon the problem "how to aid the needy without increasing pauperism?" It is a very difficult problem to solve, because, while there are many worthy persons in want who never seek assistance, unless compelled by iron necessity, there are also many, very many, who would gladly take advantage of the compassionate feelings of the community and be supported by the hand of charity. Unfortunately there is a tendency in public and systematic action for the relief of the poor to increase the evil which it is intended to lessen. The victous and the improvident will idle away their time in summer, or squander their earnings in dissipation, in the expectation that charitable societies will not allow them to suffer during the winter. Such persons, and their number increases every winter, do not ask relief as a favor, but demand it as a right, and they make the assurance of obtaining it an occasion for coninuing their carelessness and their vices. The Association, seeing this tendency, and feeling that duty to the community, as well as real kindness to the vacce and the community. The Board of Managers of the Relief and Employmer association, in behalf of the destitute and suffering, earnes ter. Such persons, and their number increases every winter, do not ask relief as a favor, but demand it as a right, and they make the assurance of obtaining it an occasion for continuing their carelessness and their vices. The Association, seeing this tendency, and feeling that duty to the community, as well as real kindness to the poor, sternly forbids its doing any thing to diffinish the inducements to industry and self-support, and believing that no system of public charity is of actual benefit which does not encourage the poor to exert themselves, has come to the conclusion to make a willingness to work the test of worthiness to receive charity. It has therefore established a working department, where good instruction is provided, and good wages are paid.

Of course it must extend direct relief, in many cases, to the sick, to those who are unable to work, and to those who, not withistanding their utmost exertions, cannot provide the necessaries of life for themselves and their children. But the principles by which it is determined to be governed are these: To help those who are willing to help themselves, to discriminate in favor of industry and virtue, to discourage idleness and thriftlessness, and by prompt visitation of applicants at their homes to prevent imposition and to administer timely aid when really needed. By acting on these principles the association believes that it will best serve the important problem proposed, that it will render efficient assistance to the needy and not increase pauperism.

Already the good effects of the system are seen, as not a few who have demanded relief this season have indignantly refused the offer of work and wages, while the worthy and industrious have not only expressed to your approval, the Association respectfully requests inst you will contribute to its collectors such sums as in your benevolence and kindness you may deem best. Contributions in food and clothing will be gratefully requests that any further the definition of the principles will commend themselv that you will contribute to its collectors a your benevolence and kindness you may detributions in food and clothing will be grat at any time at the office of the Association, ceat side, between Green and liferron In behalf of the Association.

THIRTY-FOURTH CONGRESS.—SECOND SESSION Wednesday's Proceedings Concluded.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 24. House.—Mr. Phelps explained that his object was to withdraw from circulation all depreciated foreign coin by receiving Mexican and Spanish quarters, eighths, and sixteenths of a dollar at twenty, ten, and five cents, respectively.

The committee of ways and means propose that the President shall fix, by proclamation, a description of the new cent coin. The precedent was set

Mr. Haveu was fearful that the bill in its presen form would disturb, to a great extent, the commer-cial transactions of the country, as it proposed a re-peal of all laws making any foreign coins a legal iender.

Mr. Phelps replied that it was the opinion of various gentlemen that no such laws would affect the commercial value of foreign coins, however receivable.

Several members appealed to Mr. Phelps to move to refer the bill to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union.

Mr. Phelps said he could not gratify them, saying that to do so would be sending it to the tomb of the Capulets.

Mr. Houston remarked that the coins of many charges are supported by the control of the country of the countr made a legal tender, and it should be ascertained whether such laws have expired before this bill be pressed to final action.

Mr. Jones, of Tenn., said that the only way of insuring a fair investigation was to send the bill to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union.

Mr. Wakeman observed that no man knew bet-ter than Mr. Jones that there was no more effectual means to destroy the bill, than to give it such reference.

Mr. Jones replied. It has become fashionable to say when it is designed to kill any bill that it is sent to that committee. The majority, however, can always control the business. He guarauteed if railroad or fire bills involving millions of dollars were referred to that committee they would be reached before the 4th of March.

Mr. Jones made a motion to lay the bill on the table. It received only twelve affirmative votes. On further consideration the bill was postponed two weeks.

The Rhode Island case, which was decided in the Supreme Court to-day, embraces a series of events for nearly a century back. The lands involved are covered by manufacturing establishments and flourishing villages, and have been held throughout past generations without a question of legal ownership. The bill alleging fraud and claim was deemed by the Court defective, and the presumption being in favor of the present occupants, the decree of the Circuit Court in that State was affirmed.

The Pork Trade for the Week.—The weather during the greater portion of the week has not been favorable for pork packing. Last Thursday and Friday it was too warm, and Monday and yesterday too cold. The market, nevertheless, had been very firm, and prices have further improved, though at the close rather unsettled, holders asking for heavy hogs prices rather above those which buyers were willing to pay. There were buyers at $6.70 to $6.85 for light to extra large hogs, whilst for heavy ones holders asked $7. The receipts have been quite light for the week, and the impression seems to be general that within the coming two weeks the season will close. Of this, however, we think there is much doubt, as last season and the one previous the business continued for five weeks after this time.

Below we give the receipts by the various channels for the season, and comparatively for the two previous seasons.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A FEMALE SLAVE.-New York: Redfield. When Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom" passed through its multifarious editions, we hoped that the appetite for such publications would be completely satiated. It did not then seem possible that another anti-slavery novel could be written, which would possess originality and be equal to the Stowe's production. We were mistaken. The thirst for such publications is perhaps greater at the present moment than ever before, and the "Autobiography of a Female Slave," just published by Redfield, shows that there is yet a deeper depth of anti-slavery fiction to which the authoress of Uncle Tom's Cabin had not attained, and that it is possible to produce an anti-slavery novel of infinitely greater merit as a literary production and of vastly deeper infamy as a total misrepresentation of African slavery in the South than anything that has yet been published.

The "Autobiography of a Female Slave" is published anonymously, but it is evidently the work of a female writer, and the dialogues in the negro dialect are far more true to nature than any we have yet seen. The writer displays an unusual accuracy of knowledge of the dispositions of our slaves, but falls into the same error committed by all the antislavery authors. The negroes are made for the most part types of meral excellence and physical beauty. They are represented generally as saints and angels, while the whites, except the abolition emissaries, are painted blacker than the devil himself in wanton cruelty, selfishness, and depravity.

The great demerit of this, as well as all other publications of this character, is the selection of isolated cases of cruelty in the South, instances which are as truly condemned by the great mass of slaveholders as by the negrophilists of the North, and the classification of all such outrages to constitute a picture of Southern slave life. This is as infamously unjust as it would be for us to select incidents from among the outcasts of society in New York, the vilest characters in the most miserable dens of the "Five Points," and represent them as types of social life in the northern States.

The tone of this book is exceedingly objectionable; it is filled with the foulest abolitionism that has ever been uttered. It contains the concentrated fanaticism of Garrison and Beecher and Phillips and Fred. Douglass, but the story itself is full of thrilling interest and artistic finish. It is the production of a practised pen. It abounds in beautiful thoughts and highly poetic expressions. Considered merely as a literary production, independent of its gross misrepresentations, false theories, and most disgusting ultra anti-slavery aspirations, it evinces a high order of talent and literary genius. We much regret to witness such a perversion of ability. We are pained to see a great genius thus grovelling in the mire of fanaticism and soiling its brilliant plumage with the filth of ultra abolitionism.

There are incidents interwoven in the story which will be recognized by many of our readers as exaggerated statements of events that have transpired in our own city within a few years past; and the descriptions of some of the minor personages introduced, although greatly distorted and perverted, are evidently intended for some who have been and others who yet are residents of this city.

This book will doubtless have even a greater run than any of its predecessors. It will be read at the North and in England because it panders, more than any other book that has yet been published, to the anti-slavery prejudices which are there epidemic. It will be read in the South to see how much more slanderous a publication than Mrs. Stowe's "Uncle Tom" can possibly be conceived.

It is only to be regretted that the writer has made it so fascinating that every one will want to read it, but while its readers will be charmed with the highly artistic performance and the literary excellence of the story they cannot fail to be thoroughly disgusted with the effort to represent its details as a picture of slave life in the South.

THE MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION .- We regret that our worthy mayor thought it proper to issue the proclamation which was published on Wednesday afternoon in reference to the negro population understand that it has engendered great fear and discontent among the negroes. We very much doubt the policy of permitting the slaves to suppose that fears of an insurrection are entertained. The very expression of such suspicions may tend to suggest the idea of insurrection and insubordination to numbers of slaves who would not otherwise have thought of it for a moment. We think it would be much better policy to allow slaves their usual holiday privileges and to institute greater watchfulness of their movements. Thus any mischievous demonstrations could be promptly suppressed without suggesting the idea of insurrection to them.

We state for the information of the colored population that none of them have been confined in jail who were out before 10 o'clock at night or who had passes when out after that hour, and that none will be confined in jail before that hour, or after that hour if they have passes, provided they conduct themselves properly.

The Walker meeting at New York, on Satur. day, is thus noticed by the Mirror:

There was a meeting at the Taberaacle on Saturday evening for the purpose of sending aid and comfort to Walker in his efforts to get up a pro-slavery republic in opposition to the "Psalm-singing Yankees," of which the patriot Rynders was the leading spirit. About $1,500 in money and checks was put into the hat; and the St. Nicholas Hotel promised 100 barrels of bread; and the Metropolitan 5,000 lbs. of bacon.

Most Painful. Calamity—Three Children Floating on a cake of Ice—Two of them Drouned.—Two lovely little brothers, aged seven and five years, the only sons of John P. Worthing, of this village, were drowned in the Chenango river, near their father's residence, on Saturday, the 13th inst., about two o'clock P. M. They had permission to spend the afternoon with the children of Mr. S. Cary, whose residence is situated on the bank of the river, about one mile from its mouth. Mr. Cary's lee son of mine years and the two sons of Mr. W. ent down to the river, which was rising by the late thaw, and stepped on to the ice, which extended some rods into the river, and in a few minutes they were floating into the current.

the river, and in a few minutes they were floating into the current.

Their perilous condition was soon discovered, and alarm given, but before assistance could be rendered the float struck the main body of the ice extending across the river some distance below, and the two sons of Mr. Worthing were precipitated under the ice. Mr. Cary's little son jumped off a few rods above and waded to a small island near. Measures were immediately taken to recover the bodies of the children, and prosecuted vigorously by a large number of citizens, removing the ice and dragging the river; but they were not found until the next morning.—Binghampton Republican.

DAMAGES TO THE SOUTH IN CASE OF A DISSOLU-TION OF THE UNION.—Senator Benton, in his lecture at Boston, enumerated the following catalogue of evils which would befal the South in case of the dissolution of the Union:

An interesting presentation took place at the Mammoth Pork-House of Hull, Hunt, & Co. on Christmas morning (Geo. G. Fetter, Esq., superintendent of the house, being the recipient), consisting of a massive gold watch and chain, purchased at the store of Yeiser, on Fourth street, from the employees of the pork-house, and also a beautiful gold-headed cane from the negroes of the establishment.

Dr. Harris, having been appointed to present the watch and chain, spoke briefly and to the point, as follows:

"You can feel for and sympathize with those who 'earn their bread by the sweat of their brow,' and I know the value you will place upon this token, and I assure you it comes from no sinister motives, but is a gift prompted by generous and noble impulses from honest men with honest hearts. Acceptit, sir, from my hands with the wish of all connected with the presentation that your future life may be one of continued peace, happiness, and prosperity."

Mr. Fetter, receiving the token, made use of the following pointed remarks:

"Dn. Harris-Sir: I receive with pleasure from your hands this elegant watch, presented by the working men of our house. Allow me, in the first place, to thank you for the handsome manner in which you have addressed me, and, coming from you, gentlemen, I consider it the highest compilment that could have been paid me.

"The intrinsic value of the present is nothing, but the motives that prompted it render it above price. I am a working man myself and have always been associated with working men. My sympathies, therefore, are with them. I have been rude and harsh at times, I know, but you will all do me the justice to say that I never required more of you than I was willing to do myself. Allow me, sir, again to thank you all for your handsome present and to wish you all a merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

The watch bore the following inscription: "Presented by

you all a merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

The watch bore the following inscription: "Presented by the employees of Hull, Hunt, & Co.'s Pork-house, Dec. 25th, 1856," surrounding a well engraved porker.

Immediately following the reply of Mr. Fetter, Jim Tyler, a "trump" among the darkies, came forward with the case in his hands and spoke as follows:

"Massa George: My respects to you de captain of de niggers and hopin you will be our captain all de time and askin you to please 'cept dis cane and wishin dat you may never die and I may live all de time and hopin dat in de mornin of de general 'sembly when Gabriel comes down and places one foot on de mighty sea and de oder on de dry land and swar by him dat liveth dat time shall be no longer dat you may git up when de good old angel blows his trumpet and shakin off de grave dust may live wid de bloodwashed millions and go away up through great tribulation."

To which Mr. Fetter made a brief but touching reply, said he said ne "Jim: I am pleased with the compliment paid me and truly appreciate the gift, and if allowed to live to a green old age, this cane shall sustain my tottering limbs, and after I have been called to pay the debt of nature it shall be handed down to my children, with the imporative command, that it shall always be retained by my posterity." After the conclusion of the ceremonies, a splendid lunch as prepared, of which all partook heartily.

Singular and Useful Fact Connected with the Fig Singular and Useful Fact Connected with the Figures 25 and 75.—It may not be generally known that any sum can be multiplied by 25 by simply adding two ciphers to the multiplicand, or the sum to be multiplied, and then dividing by 4. Take for example 68, and multiply it by 25; two ciphers being added make 6,800, which sum being divided by 4, gives the quotient, or answer, 1,700. The reason why the amount is thus obtained is as follows: two cyphers being added to 68 have exactly the same effect on that sum as if it were multiplied by 100, and that sum multiplied, being divided by 4, gives the fourth part, or the amount due to 25. Any sum may also be multiplied by 75 by the same rule, in the following manner: To the sum to be multiplied, say 68, add two ciphers which makes 6 800. divides say 68, add two ciphers, which makes 6,800; divide by 4, which gives 1,700, or the fourth part, and the 1,700, or fourth part, being subtracted from the aforesaid 6,800, leaves the remaining three-fourths

Good for Something After All.—Having an abiding faith in the axiom that nothing was created in vain, faith in the axiom that nothing was created in vain, we have long sought for some apology for the existence of those wretched little creatures known as poodle dogs, and at last we have found out their uses. A lady who kept one of the curly abominations recently lost her pet, and called upon a policeman to find it. The next day the officer came with the dog, which was wet and dirty. The lady was overjoyed, and asked forty silly questions; among others, "Where did you find the dear baby?" "Why, marm," replied the officer, "a big nigger up in Sullivan street had him tied to a pole and was washing windows with him."—N. Y. Tribune.

If all that the counsel for the defense in the Hunt If all that the counsel for the defense in the Huntington case state be true, one or two big note shavers in Wall street are greater scoundrels than the criminal at the bar. Huntington, it seems, was a mere tool of older and shrewder "operators." The question is, will the "respectable" parties implicated prosecute for libel?—N. Y. Mirror.

A Perfumed Breath.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath when, by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as, a dentifrice, would not only render it sweet but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth uight and morning. A fifty-cent bottle will last a year.

A Beautiful Complexion may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan, pimples, and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and roseate hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning.

Shaving made Easy.—Wet your shaving brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful soft lather, much facilitating the operation of shaving.

DR. A. KING, a practitioner of New York for the last thirty years, has opened a Dispensary on Market, bet. First and Second, nearly opposite the Graham House, Louisville, for the treatment of Private Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Syphilis, and all diseases of the skin and other derangements growing out of neglect or imperfect cure. His long experience and success enable him to act with confidence. All those who may confide their cases to him may rest assured of having the disease effectually cured and every vestige of the difficulties perfectly eradicated from their constitutions.

STRICTURES of old or recent date effectually cured in a few days by an operation which causes no pain. Wherea stricture exists, general derangement of the whole constitution must ensue, a continuance of which will bring on a train of symptons to be dreaded, and will undermine the constitution and cause premature old age.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.—Particular attention will be given to this disease and all the consequences growing out of it, brought on, in many cases, by the destructive habits of inconsiderate youth and excessive indulgence of the passions, which undermine the constitution, rendering the subject unfit for either business or society, and causing premature old age.

"SELLING OFF AT COST!" seems to be all the rage now. At store entrances and windows, in show-cases, circulars, and papers everywhere, and ever our eyes meet with this custom trap-word!

What does it mean? Can there by any mercantile philosophy in selling without profit? Unlike Falstaff, we can afford to give reasons. Gentlemen want to get rid of old Rococco stock, or they can't stand the tide in the money-drawer, or they have made already profit enough! The latter may be possible, people say, but hardly probable, not even in the jewelry business!

Now selling at cost does not absolutely mean cheap, since much depends upon prices paid by the merchant in the shape of profit to the European or Eastern manufacturer or importer, cost of transport, insurance, interest, and exchange, which VOGT & KLINK, manufacturing most of their jewelry themselves (all the decry of Louisville fabrics notwithstanding), and thus doing away with expenses above laid, can well afford, with profit, to sell at Eastern prices, a large and fine assoried stock of solid, rich, and fashionable articles, and many particularly adapted for Christmas gifts, for money that is to remain in town partly expended in wages. Call and examine on Third street, opposite Walker's. 417

THIRTY-FOURTH CONGRESS—SECOND SESSION Friday's Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. Washington, Dec. 26.

Senate.—On motion of Mr. Thompson of New Jersey, a resolution was adopted calling on the Secretary of the Treasury to report whether a more efficient means cannot be devised for the preservation of the lives of seamen and passengers wrecked on the coast of New Jersey and Long Island, and also whether relief should not be granted to families of persons who lose their lives in endeavoring to rescue individuals from shipwreck.

The Senate, without further business, adjourned till Tuesday.

RALTIMOPE Dec 96 Two trains came in collision yesterday on the Virginia Central Railroad, near Gordansville. The trains were both much smashed and four or five persons instantly killed.

The mail from the South has just reached here, bringing New Orleans papers of Thursday and the Charleston journals of Monday.

A modification of the law in relation to colored seamen has passed both houses of the South Carolina Legislature. It substitutes confinement on board the ships to which they belong, instead of imprisonment.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 26. The latest dates from New Orleans by mail are to Wednesday of last week, leaving three mails due. Communication with Norfolk, which has been interrupted for the past three days by storms, has been resumed. No marine disasters on the Bay are reported.

Christmas, as is usual, was generally observed. There was a good deal of disorder during the day, but no serious riots. No papers are published here this morning.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 24. The news from New York respecting General Walker caused considerable excitement.

The steamer of the 26th will probably take a

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 25. A card of Gen. Hornsby, of the Nicaraguan army, denies the truth of Derrickson's statement. It says that Derrickson applied for a situation as surgeon in the army, but, on examination, proved incompetent for the position. Hence his enmity. The card says that Walker will undoubtedly maintain himself. Walker's agents here are very active.

DETROIT, Dec. 25. A train passed over the track of the Detroit, Mon-roe, and Toledo Railroad to Monroe to-day. The last rail was laid this morning.

LADIES' FURS AT REDUCED PRICES. HAYES, CRAIG, & CO. are making quite a stir among the ladies in consequence of the low price of their Furs. Having en hand much too large a stock for the season, and much of it too fine for this market—at least the ladies think so—(they do not wish to humbug their customers y 'selling at cost')—have reduced their prices very materially, and are now furnishing the ladies with Furs of every description at much lower prices than they were ever before retailed for in the Western country, and intend to do so until after Christmas, which will afford a good opportunity to all those who wish to make Christmas presents. There certainly is nothing more seasonable for such purposes; and gentlemen inclined that way will find our Purs so low that they are within the reach of all. di3 j&b

THOSE ELEGANT DRESS HATS OF HAYES, CRAIG, & CO., are now being made so very light and soft that many are laying aisde their Soft Fur Hats for them. Stop in and see them.

THE LADIES ARE BECOMING MORE AND MORE alive every year to the importance of Fur Wrappings, which proves most conclusively that this is a progressive age. There is nothing that does so effectually protect them against the consequences of this changeable climate as Furs, and there is nothing so comfortable, elegant, or durable. They can be had of HAYES, CRAIG, & CO. so cheap that it would be economy to purchase Fur instead of Velvet, Cloth, or Silk Cloaks.

We have still a few sets of Russian Sable, which we will dispose of so low that it would be an object to purchase them in mipsdmmer.
